Why invest in an online business

To say the last couple of years has been a change in the way things work is the understatement of the century, literally, there has been a massive uptake across almost every type of industry, from the government sector, education, shopping you name it is now available online.

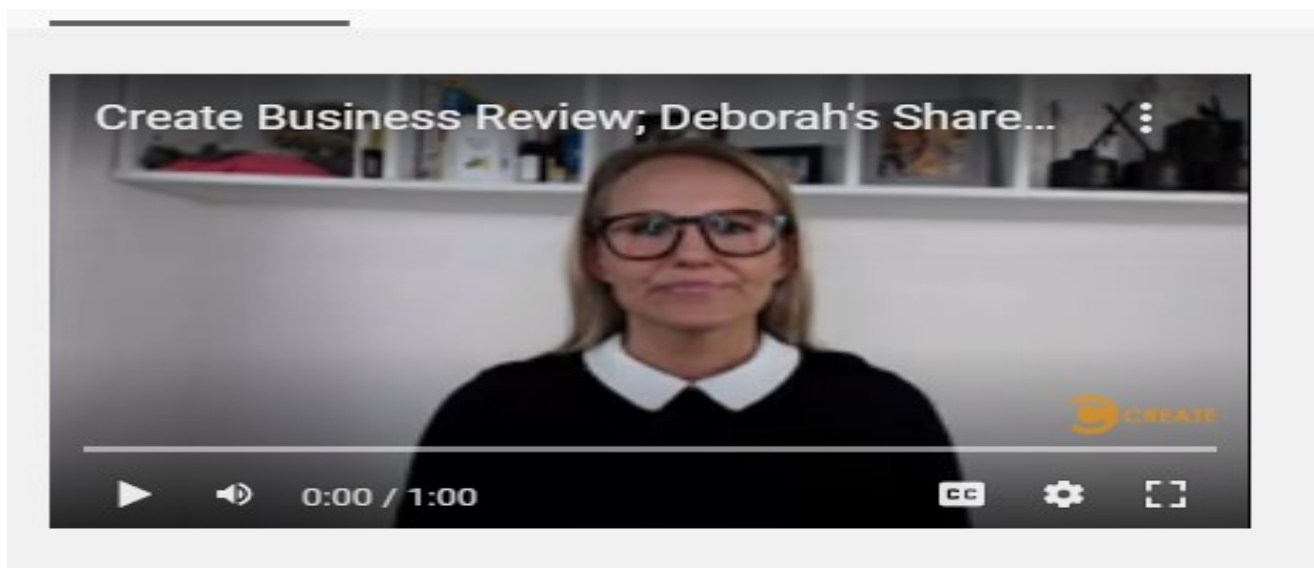

This represents a huge opportunity for the online aware person because not only is there more people working from home, more than ever before, these same people are also the key drivers for online commerce.

Plus, as we have all witnessed the offline world of business can be very precarious to say the least, that is why most business are opening up their online presence, because if things go awry in the physical world (pandemics/economy/travel restrictions, etc), then they are a lot more protected online.

These are just some of many sound reasons why now is the very best of times of invest in an online business

Side hustle or full-time gig

You may have come across this term lately, it refers to whether you take your online business part-time or full-time, straight away the thing that should stand out to you, is that you have a choice (important word)

@Create

The age of the side hustle

That is a major benefit, right there, because 99.9% of 'we the people' have little to no real choice when it comes to working a job other than mostly trivial decisions. As a business owner, you get to make the vast majority of these, such as how long do you want (important word) work for?

We had found that the answer usually lies between, what is required in terms of income and what is desired in terms of lifestyle. The longer you have your business the more refined this equation becomes until you have perfect balance (important word) that works just for you.

We also find that a lot of people will start part time, looking at it as a training time and ease into a full-time business once they are fully comfortable with the systems, the forecast and actual income.

So, the story here is that you have, choice, balance and you can follow your wants, there most (important word) in this sentence is you, not someone else, because at the end of the day, however you choose to work; the decision is yours to make.

You see working for yourself is really about freedom, it just comes down to how free do you want to be and how quickly do want that to happen?

Profit Potential

Why

This is an important question in fact the question should really be, what can Create Business offer me that others can't?

The answer to that, is 22 years long, this is how long Create has been continuously operating in the professional Refund sector worldwide in helping Australians, New Zealanders, Americans, British & Canadians just like you become refund specialists in this little known industry.

The refund Sector offers a service of reuniting Australians, Kiwis (and globally in America, the UK, and Canada) with their rightful long forgotten monies in super annulation funds, bank accounts, rental bonds, to name just a few and it's no small amounts, that is around 23.7 billion dollars, just in Australia alone (and Approximately 90 Billion internationally).

Nothing Else Comes Close

Some of these refunds have amounted to millions of dollars and are regularly in the hundreds and thousands of dollars, so as you can imagine the refund specialist who is reaching out to a person that is totally oblivious to their lost funds even existing, is happy to say the least.

Even if people are aware that their money is sitting in the government coffers, because of the complexities and required government guidelines, most people either give up trying to secure their funds and just place it into a too hard basket.

This is where you as a professional refund Specialist, can offer them a 'all done for you' service and easily traverses the maze, and reunite your clients and their funds, why because as a create business student, you have been educated on how the system works and how to make it work for you, plus you've been supplied with all the tools required to make this as seamless as possible.

Where else can you get paid to reunite people with their money?

This is why create Business is the best option for anyone who wants to be become a successful, professional refund Professional today!

Unique Online Business Model

As we highlighted this opportunity is unique, in fact the people who service this industry is tiny, yet the pool of refundable equity is immense, 23.7 billion approx. in Australia, 90 billion Across the world.

For the professional refund specialist, they can expect to charge between 10 to 30% refund fees for each and every return and generally work between 4-8 hours per day depending on their business structure, part-time or full-time.

The very obvious highlight here is the amazing opportunity that is the refund industry for the very select few who happened to be educated by Create and have all the tools, systems and back up to ensure that their refund career is steered in the right direction, from day one.

The question is do you feel that you could be one of the few?

THE Business

It doesn't take very long to crunch the numbers out to see just how big a potential this Business can be, working even the part-time model can and is a real earner, if we take the 30% refund fee as an example and only use, just a very small refund amount let say $1,000 and you did that (the equivalent to that $300) for instance, per day for 5 working days. That is $300 refund fees to you x 5 days that is $1,500 for the week. Now this is a conservative example of Refund professionals earnings, with some receiving single returns of over $60,000 some with $83,000 and in some instance $500,000 in single claims- the Refund Professional receives around 10-30 % in fees of the total claim amount, now of course there are really massive single returns, they won't happen every day, however big returns do happen.

Also don't forget that you can also do a lot more of smaller returns, that add up to a very healthy payday.

The take away here is this, being a refund specialist is a bit like being a gold miner, every day is different, some days will be smaller other days will be big, and others life altering...it all balances out nicely over the year, and its always rewarding!

Case Studies

Successful Refund Service Providers

Case study no 1: Reg is a 74-year-old gentleman living in Sydney who was for the most retired and decided to become a part-time professional refund specialist, through Create business and received a massive $89,000 from just one of his clients returns of $482,839.35.

Case study no 2: Kyle who was a builder and to say that he was technophobic, is an understatement he is much more the hands-on kind of guy, but after taking the Create Refund Business System and learning how the system worked, he made it first few calls to prospective client and within 1 hour on day 1 earned over $2,000 on a single refund.
